

TERMS:
In advance, per annum, $30.00
If not paid strictly in advance, 25.00
Single Copy, 50 cents, Cash.

ALL JOB WORK—CASH.

ALABAMA REPORTER,
THURSDAY MORNING, April 6,

MR. THOS. S. SMITH of Sylacauga, is authorized agent during my absence from the county.
Feb. 19th, 1862. L. S. WHITE

The Hon. M. H. Cruiikshank, arrested at home from Richmond, on Wednesday last, in fine health. He learned while in Montgomery, that Schuch had fallen into the hands of the enemy. He brings cheering news from Virginia and North Carolina. He states that he has been a heavy battle fought between Johnston and Sherman. The rumors of Montgomery are, that Johnston has shipped 30,000 muskets, and Johnston forces captured three of Schuch's muskets, the captured captured Johnston that Schuch is in a very straitened circumstance, his supplies nearly exhausted and calling for supplies and reinforcements. It is rumored that Johnston captured a large number of prisoners. Estimated from 5000 to 20,000.

EXCITEMENT.

For the past week our town has been excited to the highest pitch. A large Yankee force, entered Montevallo last Wednesday, a party of them, numbering about 300, came up to Columbia on Friday, and burnt the town. They burnt the school house, the church, the store, the hotel, the jail, and the falling mill near Columbia depot, and then returned to Montevallo. There are various conjectures as to their number; some estimate them at 4,000 to 6,000, others a much larger number. The latter view is that the Yankees captured Selma on Sunday night at 11 o'clock. We understand that there was a considerable fight between Forrest and the enemy before the city was captured. We learn the enemy force numbered about 23,000. Dispatches from Oxford stated that there was a large body of Yankees near that place on Sunday last, and on Monday that they were at Greensboro. These rumors are false, there are no Yankees about.

Mr. S. S. Smith has lost a Pocket Book. See Adv.

Mr. H. Kirksey has a Card in our paper. See Adv.

Mr. O. S. Anderson's Command.

Recd. 11th, 3d Ala. Cavalry, 1st Regt., Jan. 14, 1862.

Special Order.

No.

In accordance with instructions from Gen. Beauregard Capt. Gidding of the 3d Confederate Regt. of Ala. Anderson's Brigade is hereby ordered to proceed to Mississippi to collect and bring to this command all members of the Confederate Regt. of Ala. from their commands. The order for this Regt. to rendezvous in Miss. was issued without authority and not to be obeyed.

All members of this Regt. who fail to report to Capt. Gidding and return with him to this command will be published and treated as deserters.

By command of
BRIE. GUNTERSON
W. W. GUNTERSON, Capt. & A. G.

His Excellency's Command.

Montgomery, Ala. March 29, 62.

Special Order.

No.

In presence of actors brought in and released by authority vested in me, Wm. H. Kirksey, Co. A. 8th Confederate Cavalry, he hereby detained and ordered to proceed to Talladega, Ala., for the purpose of collecting all members of this Regt.

All members of the Regiment are hereby ordered to report to Wm. H. Kirksey. After the collection of such men, he will report to the command at West Point, Ga., or wherever it may be "in route" for South Carolina.

T. W. GOLDING,
Capt. Comd'g Regt.

Absentees will report to me at Talladega on Monday next at 8 o'clock A. M. armed and equipped, ready to march to West Point, Ga.

W. H. KIRKSEY.

LOST—LOST.

BETWEEN the 1st and 2nd of March, 1862, a small black and white dog, the color of Talladega, or rather a black and white dog, containing about four hundred dollars in cash, and a note for $2,750, drawn by M. R. Bart, and payable to the order of the Talladega, Ga., and due about 21st day of January, 1862. Also two papers of harness needed, and some other papers of value to no one but myself.

The finder will be satisfactorily rewarded by leaving said book and contents at the Reporter's Office. All parties are warned not to trade for said note.

SAM'L S. BOOTH.

April 24, 1862.

Alabama Reporter.

JUSTITIA ET VERITAS.

(Twenty Dollars in Advance)

NO. 14.

TALLADEGA, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 1862.

VOLUME XXII.

Deceased Alabama Soldiers.

The Chicago Evening Journal publishes a list of prisoners who have died at Camp Douglas since May 20, 1862, among which we find the names of 67 Alabamians. The place of capture and date of death are given.

Armstrong, H. C., 17th Ala. inf., Dec. 20, 1861.
Blackburn, W. M., 89th Ala. inf., Nashville, Jan. 19.
Anty, B. F., 17th Ala. inf., Nashville, Feb. 1.
Avery, J., unassigned; Giddens, Ala., Jan. 26.
Blackburn, B., 41st Ala. inf., Chickamauga, Sept. 15.
Baker, Ed., 51st Ala. inf., Atlanta, September 12.
Bigby, T. L., 33d Ala. inf., Port Hudson, Oct. 18.
Bridger, P. J., 1st Ala. inf., Port Hudson, Oct. 25.
Billingsley, A. A., 43d Ala. inf., Elk River, Dec. 20.
Brooks, Josh., 19th Ala. inf., Atlanta, Dec. 23.
Bailey, John, 30th Ala. inf., Nashville, January 11.
Blanchard, John, 39th Ala. inf., Nashville, Jan. 17.
Boo, W. S., 13th Ala. inf., Elk River, Jan. 18.
Chandler, J. H., 89th Ala. inf., Chickamauga, Nov. 13.
Clark, J., 1st Ala. inf., Morgan Oct. 8.
Coker, J. M., 22d Ala. inf., Atlanta, October 28.
Clark, Phil., 4th Ala. inf., Vicksburg, November 1.
Coyne, Joe, 4th Ala. inf., Shelbyville, Tenn., Dec. 31.
Cosby, J. S., 3d Ala. Cav., Shelbyville, Tenn.

Cox, W. R., 3d Ala. Cav., Alabama, December 23.
Gundrich, S., 40th Ala. infantry, Georgia, Dec. 28.
Chandler, J. N., Clanton's Ala. regt., Rome, Jan. 15.
Gundrich, John, 16th Ala. inf., Atlanta, Jan. 18.
Clark, D. B., 67th Ala. infantry, Nashville, January 21.
Cline, Wm. A., 33d Ala. infantry, Franklin, Jan. 22.
Chapman, John, 22d Ala. inf., Nashville, Jan. 28.
Cresswell, Henry, 17th Ala. infantry, Nashville, Feb. 1.
DeBough, M., 4th Ala. infantry, Helena, Tenn., Feb. 26.
Davis, S., 25th Ala. inf., Resaca, Oct. 4.
Davis, J. H., 17th Ala. inf., Resaca, Nov. 19.
Dawkins, T. A., 56th Ala. inf., Stockbridge, Dec. 1.
Dunn, J. L., Ala. battalion, Chickamauga, December 18.
Dobson, W. D. G., 22d Ala. Nashville, Jan. 8.
Duncan, B. L., 1st Ala. inf., Nashville, Jan. 13.
Dunbar, Andrew, 11th Ala. inf., Nashville, Jan. 20.
Dunbar, Wm. L., 1st Ala. inf., Nashville, Jan. 28.
Davis, Isaac, 57th Ala. inf., Nashville, Jan. 31.
Elkins, J. H., 34th Ala. inf., Chickamauga, Aug. 29.
Edwards, J. R., 34th Ala. inf., Nashville, Jan. 18.
Fleischer, A. J., 55th Ala. Atlanta, Jan. 2.
Forbes, Wm., 20th Ala. Nashville, Jan. 4.
Foster, John, 30th Ala. Resaca, Jan. 11.
Fauldy, J. H., 49th Ala. Nashville, Jan. 15.
Fain, P., 20th Ala. Nashville, Jan. 18.

Gamble, John, 19th Ala. Chickamauga, Sept. 6.
Gentry, John, 23d Ala. Marietta, Nov. 20.
Gibbs, E., 48d Ala. Resaca, Dec. 17.
Gilmore, Wm. M., 88th Ala. Nashville, Jan. 7.
Gibbs, H., 4th Ala. battalion, Nashville, Jan. 26.
Guthrie, A. C., 17th Ala. Nashville, Jan. 27.
Gray, L. O., 53d Ala. Resaca, Feb. 2.
Holder, Ira, 37th Ala. Marietta, Aug. 5.
Howell, F., 51st Ala. Chickamauga, Aug. 5.
Hampson, Char, 55th Ala. Atlanta, Sept. 7.

Hampshire, W. A., 34th Ala. Chickamauga, Sept. 7.
Harris, J., 23d Ala. Elk River, Dec. 20.
Hubbard, W. N., 20th Ala. Resaca, Dec. 6.
Hark, J. D., 4th Ala. Cumberland Gap, Jan. 8.
Holcomb, F. M., 1st Ala. Franklin, Jan. 28.
Holman, C. W., 17th Ala. Nashville, Jan. 28.
Hollis, M. B., 23d Ala. Marietta, Jan. 27.
Holland, D. F., 17th Ala. Nashville, Jan. 28.
Heaton, H. O., 23th Ala. Chattanooga, Oct. 1.
Holcomb, H. C., 31st Ala. Big Spring, Oct. 9.

THE DEAD OF ALABAMA.

By ALEX. R. CLIVERALL.

From the balmy Gulf of Mexico, to the rolling Tennessee, and from red Chattahoochee to the placid Tombigbee. From mountain top and prairie, from city, town and vale, And from each bereaved household, is heard a solemn wail.

For the DEAD OF ALABAMA, who their sacred blood have poured, Who have fallen by the cannon, the rifle and the sword, Who have given up their hearts' blood for their country's sake, Who counted independence a greater boon than life.

From the Gulf to the Pacific, each a hero lived and died, Their fate not below the foe—how strong each of the tide, Of battle rushed upon them, yet never did they blench, But fought and died upon the field, on picket, or in trench.

When this bloody war is over, and our liberty obtained, Some we shall record, will recount the battles we have gained And name those noble spirits who have fallen in their prime, Who died themselves, to make us free, who died for thine and mine.

He will tell of gallant Gracie, and those other brave and true; Boies, Saunders, Kell, Gray, who pass in our review, The Armistice noble brothers, Ballou, Pegues and Luge, Shewed the Tyrant, to his bidding, that the South would never cinge.

Hart, Woodward, Brown and Adams, Lampley, Weedon, Holt and Earle, Are jewels in the Southern Crown richer than any pearl, And among the noblest of the South, Moore, Garrett, Beck and Baine, We gloried in them while they lived, we mourn them now they're slain.

Jewett, McSmith, and Forney, R. T. and Egbert Jones, Kirby, Averett, Haulsey, Haulsey, school their dying groans, And better soldiers ever fought, for freedom, Rome or Greece, Than Whitley, Bassley and McLean, Fox, Roper and Minneaux.

Webb, Williams, and Pelham, Baldwin, Welch and Cook, Were born of men who never would Southern dominion brook; And among the brave who have gone, no nobler spirits left Than Turner, Simpson, Posey, Clark, Sapp, Carson and Cornwell.

He will tell of Phelps, Johnson, Prince, Mickle, Pollard, Scott; And as Rachel mourned at Ramah, we mourn because they're not, And among the noblest of the South, Moore, Garrett, Beck and Baine, We gloried in them while they lived, we mourn them now they're slain.

He will tell of Patton, McLenore, Nuttall, Pettibone, Brave Dasher, Gray, Haulsey, and the young and gallant Stone, They held the faith, they fought the fight, though hard the way they trod, They gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of Abernethy, Meek, Porter and Bethea, And the two thousand privates who have gone down in this fray, The brave and true, who fought the fight, though hard the way they trod, They gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

THE DEAD OF ALABAMA.

By ALEX. R. CLIVERALL.

From the balmy Gulf of Mexico, to the rolling Tennessee, and from red Chattahoochee to the placid Tombigbee. From mountain top and prairie, from city, town and vale, And from each bereaved household, is heard a solemn wail.

For the DEAD OF ALABAMA, who their sacred blood have poured, Who have fallen by the cannon, the rifle and the sword, Who have given up their hearts' blood for their country's sake, Who counted independence a greater boon than life.

From the Gulf to the Pacific, each a hero lived and died, Their fate not below the foe—how strong each of the tide, Of battle rushed upon them, yet never did they blench, But fought and died upon the field, on picket, or in trench.

When this bloody war is over, and our liberty obtained, Some we shall record, will recount the battles we have gained And name those noble spirits who have fallen in their prime, Who died themselves, to make us free, who died for thine and mine.

He will tell of gallant Gracie, and those other brave and true; Boies, Saunders, Kell, Gray, who pass in our review, The Armistice noble brothers, Ballou, Pegues and Luge, Shewed the Tyrant, to his bidding, that the South would never cinge.

Hart, Woodward, Brown and Adams, Lampley, Weedon, Holt and Earle, Are jewels in the Southern Crown richer than any pearl, And among the noblest of the South, Moore, Garrett, Beck and Baine, We gloried in them while they lived, we mourn them now they're slain.

Jewett, McSmith, and Forney, R. T. and Egbert Jones, Kirby, Averett, Haulsey, Haulsey, school their dying groans, And better soldiers ever fought, for freedom, Rome or Greece, Than Whitley, Bassley and McLean, Fox, Roper and Minneaux.

Webb, Williams, and Pelham, Baldwin, Welch and Cook, Were born of men who never would Southern dominion brook; And among the brave who have gone, no nobler spirits left Than Turner, Simpson, Posey, Clark, Sapp, Carson and Cornwell.

He will tell of Phelps, Johnson, Prince, Mickle, Pollard, Scott; And as Rachel mourned at Ramah, we mourn because they're not, And among the noblest of the South, Moore, Garrett, Beck and Baine, We gloried in them while they lived, we mourn them now they're slain.

He will tell of Patton, McLenore, Nuttall, Pettibone, Brave Dasher, Gray, Haulsey, and the young and gallant Stone, They held the faith, they fought the fight, though hard the way they trod, They gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of Abernethy, Meek, Porter and Bethea, And the two thousand privates who have gone down in this fray, The brave and true, who fought the fight, though hard the way they trod, They gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

THE DEAD OF ALABAMA.

By ALEX. R. CLIVERALL.

From the balmy Gulf of Mexico, to the rolling Tennessee, and from red Chattahoochee to the placid Tombigbee. From mountain top and prairie, from city, town and vale, And from each bereaved household, is heard a solemn wail.

For the DEAD OF ALABAMA, who their sacred blood have poured, Who have fallen by the cannon, the rifle and the sword, Who have given up their hearts' blood for their country's sake, Who counted independence a greater boon than life.

From the Gulf to the Pacific, each a hero lived and died, Their fate not below the foe—how strong each of the tide, Of battle rushed upon them, yet never did they blench, But fought and died upon the field, on picket, or in trench.

When this bloody war is over, and our liberty obtained, Some we shall record, will recount the battles we have gained And name those noble spirits who have fallen in their prime, Who died themselves, to make us free, who died for thine and mine.

He will tell of gallant Gracie, and those other brave and true; Boies, Saunders, Kell, Gray, who pass in our review, The Armistice noble brothers, Ballou, Pegues and Luge, Shewed the Tyrant, to his bidding, that the South would never cinge.

Hart, Woodward, Brown and Adams, Lampley, Weedon, Holt and Earle, Are jewels in the Southern Crown richer than any pearl, And among the noblest of the South, Moore, Garrett, Beck and Baine, We gloried in them while they lived, we mourn them now they're slain.

Jewett, McSmith, and Forney, R. T. and Egbert Jones, Kirby, Averett, Haulsey, Haulsey, school their dying groans, And better soldiers ever fought, for freedom, Rome or Greece, Than Whitley, Bassley and McLean, Fox, Roper and Minneaux.

Webb, Williams, and Pelham, Baldwin, Welch and Cook, Were born of men who never would Southern dominion brook; And among the brave who have gone, no nobler spirits left Than Turner, Simpson, Posey, Clark, Sapp, Carson and Cornwell.

He will tell of Phelps, Johnson, Prince, Mickle, Pollard, Scott; And as Rachel mourned at Ramah, we mourn because they're not, And among the noblest of the South, Moore, Garrett, Beck and Baine, We gloried in them while they lived, we mourn them now they're slain.

He will tell of Patton, McLenore, Nuttall, Pettibone, Brave Dasher, Gray, Haulsey, and the young and gallant Stone, They held the faith, they fought the fight, though hard the way they trod, They gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of Abernethy, Meek, Porter and Bethea, And the two thousand privates who have gone down in this fray, The brave and true, who fought the fight, though hard the way they trod, They gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God.

He will tell of all those thousands who have died far away, From the homes they left for battle, their children used to play; Who died for their country, and now they rest, their home is with their God, Who gained the crown, and now they rest, their home is with their God